REBELS HARD PRESSED EAGER FOR INTERVENTION

The Government Troops in Nicaragua Now Seem to Have the Upper Hand

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Orders have been issued to the Prairie to take on board 700 marines and proceed at once to Colon.

The Tacoma, with practically a full complement of blue-jackets on board, has been directed to proceed forthwith to Bluefields to join the Des Moines.

The transport Prairie, which went aground in the Delaware river on the night of December 2, while proceeding down the river for Central America, was floated this morning.

Conference Held

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A conference, believed to be full of significance, is being held this afternoon at the Navy Department. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Assistant Secretary Winthrop, Rear Admiral Wainwright and Assistant Secretary of State Wilson are participating.

Nothing is known as to the nature of the conference, except that it has to do with Nicaraguan affairs. An explanation may be made later in the afternoon.

Governor Coming

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—It is expected that Governor Gisel of Chiapas, Mexico, will reach Washington today or tomorrow. The details of his mission, however, it is authoritatively stated, are not known at the State Department, but every courteous attention will be given to any suggestions he may make with regard to the situation in Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—When the 700 marines aboard the

RESIDENTS CHEER THE FIRST SIGN OF ANNEXATION

The sight of four-horse teams this morning cleaning off the mud on East Fourteenth street between Twentieth and Loma avenues filled the newly made Oaklanders of that district with pride, which gave expression to itself in several cheers. Superintendent of Streets Howe says that the people expressed themselves as tickled with being in Oakland and patted the soil of the workmen on the back. Three crews of men and a patient scraper made the street passable and was the first actual work done in the annexed district.

HUSBAND WANTS A DIVORCE, AND WANTS IT BADLY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—When Joseph A. and Angela Chabot appeared before Superior Judge Graham this morning in connection with the husband's suit for divorce, the court saw an opportunity to effect a reconciliation.

"Are you willing to take back your husband?" he asked of the woman.

"Yes, I'll give him another trial," replied she.

"And will you take your wife?" inquired his honor of Chabot, who is a glassworker.

"No, never. I'm through with her. Never again."

Judge Graham then preached a little sermon, in which he hinted of Yuletide joys and love at the Christmas fireside, after which the wife said plaintively: "My rent's due about Christmas, too."

"Oh, I'll pay your rent," chimed in Chabot, and the court seeing a sign of the breaking of the husband's will, told them he would continue the case until December 24th.

"Take your husband's arm," he said to the wife as the pair were leaving his chambers.

"No, not yet. Not on your life," said Chabot as he closed the door.

FREIGHT MAY HAVE TO BE MOVED BY TROOPS

War Department Is Embarrassed by the Switchmen's Strike

GOVERNMENT STORES BEING SIDETRACKED

Army Officers in Consultation With the U. S. Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The switchmen's strike condition in the northwest is becoming embarrassing to the war department and as a result the United States Attorney at Seattle has been conferred with by army officers with a view to obtaining relief.

By reason of the strike the government transport ship, which was scheduled to sail from Seattle to Manila last Tuesday, stands about three-fourths loaded with forage and animals for the army in the Philippines.

This places the army in an awkward position. Many cars loaded with government supplies are now side-tracked in the Seattle yards and while some little progress is being made in the way of unloading, yet the situation is altogether unsatisfactory. It may be possible that government troops will move the freight.

WOULD ARBITRATE.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 11.—The striking switchmen are willing to arbitrate and bring the strike to a speedy and peaceful end.

This declaration was made today by D. A. Hansberger, third vice-president of the Switchmen's Union of North America, who is temporarily in charge of the strike headquarters.

Between twenty and thirty trainmen on the Omaha, the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific roads, who went out with the strikers last night and decided to report tomorrow afternoon for duty as switchmen in the St. Paul terminals, to go to work Monday morning. This is the most important break since the strike began, so far as the "Twin Cities" situation is concerned.

At strike headquarters Vice-President Hansberger said he did not believe the report. The announcement, however, came from one of the Brotherhood men.

These men, who have decided to go back, are what is known as "extra trainmen" and are on the waiting list for advancement. They work as switchmen, conductors and trainmen whenever there is demand for their services.

Insane Man Dives Through Car Window

RENO, Dec. 11.—Julius Gillette, a Swiss, while riding as a passenger on a Swiss train yesterday became suddenly and violently insane and made a headlong plunge through the glass of one of the windows while the train was going forty miles an hour.

SUSPECTED HUSBAND IS ALMOST TORN TO PIECES

Armed Citizens Tear Down
Fences and Break in Doors
in Mad Search

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—The statement today of Mrs. Maggie Hunter, who was attacked and left for dead yesterday at the same time that Mrs. Eliza Grubbs and her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Ohlander, were killed, that it was her husband, J. C. Hunter, who attacked her, today led the police to re-arrest Hunter and he is being held under strong guard.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 11.—Although hundreds of armed men assisted the police last night in the search for a negro believed to have been the murderer of Mrs. Eliza Grubbs, an aged white woman, and her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Ohlander, and to have fatally injured Mrs. Maggie Hunter, the fugitive is still at large.

"Throughout the man hunt, which lasted all night intense excitement prevailed. So frenzied did the searches become after learning that Mrs. Ohlander had been fatally assaulted before she was murdered, that a white man, J. C. Hunter, husband of one of the victims, who had seen a flash on his face, came near being torn to pieces when the crowd saw the blood.

TEAR DOWN FENCES.

Fences were torn down and doors broken in. Every obstruction in the path of the crowd that would have afforded a probable hiding place for the fugitive was leveled.

The negro wanted is said to be 28 years of age and slender of build. Virtually every negro who answers this description has been sent to jail during the night on suspicion.

BRUTAL MURDERS.

All of the victims had been cut or crushed with a knife and their hands crushed with some blunt instrument, presumably with an axe.

Mrs. Hunter, despite her frightful injuries, is thought to have a chance for recovery.

Mrs. Grubbs was 72. Mrs. Ohlander was 45 years of age and formerly lived in Montgomery, Ala., where she left her husband three years ago. Mrs. Hunter is 35 years of age. She also had left her husband.

Aviator Is Injured When Machine Falls

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—A Wright aeroplane which Captain England was piloting over Johnstown field today lost its balance and plunged to the earth. Capt. England was unconscious when picked up and removed to a hospital.

England, who was a pupil of Orville Wright, made a flight of 42 minutes and 30 seconds near Pottsville on October 29, establishing a distance record for German aviators. It was found that England had not been seriously injured, though his face was lacerated and his left leg sprained. The machine can be easily repaired.

THREE MEN ARE TRAPPED IN LAKE OF BURNING TAR

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Entrapped in a lake of burning tar four men were held fast at the McClintock & Irvine Company's roofing plant in this city early today and were compelled to watch the tar gradually approaching them.

Three of them were burned to death, but the fourth managed to extricate himself, although he was seriously burned.

It is said the men were not employed at the works, but had been sleeping there at night. In some manner the valve of a tar vat opened and before the sleeping men knew their danger they were engulfed.

TELEGRAPHIC SWINDLE IS FOILED BY POLICE

Bartender Accused of Sending Forged Dispatches to Reno Banks

KEEPS THE WIRE HOT WITH DISPATCHES

Alleged Confederate Arrested
When He Presents Check
at Bank

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—On telegraphic advice from the chief of police of Reno, Nev., Thomas McCarthy, a local bartender and well known in the neighborhood, was arrested by Sergeant Christensen and placed in detention at the city prison pending an investigation into his movements in an effort to determine whether or not he is the man who worked at this end with J. A. Raymond in an effort to swindle the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Reno out of $5680.

That there is still a third man in the scheme and that he is an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Company is the confident assertion of the local police, who are making every effort to apprehend him.

Raymond presented to the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Reno a check for $5680 drawn on the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank of this city, bearing the signature of J. R. Cavanaugh. The collection teller informed Raymond that he would have to have the signature of K. D. here before he could pay the money. Later, a wire from the local bank informed the Reno people that it had no depositor named J. R. Cavanaugh. Before the bank had time to act, however, the following dispatch was received:

"San Francisco, Dec. 7, 1909—N. J. Harris, Farmers and Merchants Bank, Reno. Check favor J. E. Richmond signed J. R. Cavanaugh forwarded for collection; good; endorsement J. K. (S.) 'F B KING.'"

INVESTIGATE DISPATCH.

King is the local cashier for the Wells Fargo Bank, and as Raymond had informed the Reno institution that the mistake would be rectified, they became a little suspicious and requested their local representative, the American National Bank, to look into the matter.

That Raymond had a confederate here became evident by another dispatch sent to the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank, presumably as soon as he learned that the American Bank people were investigating.

"Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank, San Francisco: Cancel J. E. Raymond check, no good; will wire instructions later. (S.) N. J. HARRIS."

It is evident that the swindlers believed that this would end the trouble, but the American National Bank had been investigating and had discovered that Cavanaugh had no funds. The confederate here, however, was adept at forging telegrams, and sent one, presumably, from the American Bank people.

"Wells Fargo National Bank notifies us that amount sufficient to cover in full check in favor of J. E. Raymond by J. R. Cavanaugh, who identifies endorsement of same O. K."

When this dispatch had been filed for Reno the telegraph people became suspicious and informed the American National Bank, who telephoned the fact of its being a forgery to Reno, and when Raymond appeared in response to the receipt of the bogus telegram he was promptly taken into custody.

The dispatch received this morning by Captain Anderson would indicate that either a confession had been obtained from Raymond, or that documents on his person incriminated McCarthy.

Sergeant Christensen had no difficulty in finding the latter, who protested his innocence, although admitting his acquaintance with Raymond. He endeavored to prove an alibi by asserting that he had been at Reno with the latter and had only returned last night.

"When I was working in Griffin's saloon," said McCarthy, who was taken into custody there, this morning, "Raymond used to come in broke and borrow from me, and on numerous occasions I advanced him money."

GAVE HIM A RING.
"Two weeks ago he came in and told me he wanted to go to Reno, and asked me to accompany him. I told him I didn't have the money to go and he said 'that's all right, I've got plenty,' and presented me with a $300 diamond ring in return for my favors. I went up there with him, but I didn't seem to be able to get a good position and as living was high I returned and only arrived here last night."

Plot of Bride to Strip Groff of Riches, Her Past Revealed, Caused Tragedy

MRS. DANIEL B. GROFF, bride who was killed by her husband, and whose past life is suddenly revealed by tragedy.

A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I),
To a rag and a bone and a bank of hair,
We call it the woman who did not care,
But the fool he called her his lady fair.
(Even as you and I)

O, the toll we lost and the toll we lost,
And the work of the head and hand,
Belong to the woman who didn't know why,
And now we know that she never knew why,
And never could understand.

The fool was stripped to his foolish hide
(Even as you and I),
But she might have seen when she threw him aside,
But it isn't on record the lady tried,
So some of them lived, but most of them died.
(Even as you and I)

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white hot brand,
It's coming to know that she never knew why,
Seeing at last that she never knew why,
And never could understand. —Kipling.

If Kipling lived in Oakland today and his famous poem, "The Vampire," had never been composed he might find abundant inspiration for its eternal lines in the domestic tragedies which have been writ upon the annals of local crime during the last forty-eight hours. Here two women who did not care have "stripped their fools to their foolish hides"—and one of them lived, but the rest of them, a woman and three "fools," died victims of a reckless profanation of the sacred vows of love.

The details of the Jacobs-Wood tragedy are too well known to need rehearsing. It was the world old story of a woman who lightly cast aside her own husband to rob another woman and her child of the love and attention that were theirs by all the human and divine laws. But the woman, too, was a fool, for she scoffed at the idea that her spurned husband could be capable of revenge. And when his wrecked affections were suddenly transformed into murderous energy, an insatiable rage left only the woman who "did not care" and the woman she had robbed, the latter to weep and the former—perhaps to learn to care. In the murder of Mrs. Daniel B. Groff by her husband, and his subsequent suicide, there has been revealed a tragedy of life even more terrible than the ultimate consummation in death. When Groff brought his young bride to this city from Sacramento two months ago he was utterly ignorant of the fact that prior to her marriage she had been the wife of a man who had been a victim of a similar tragedy. MYSTERY SHROUDS ACTION OF WIDOW

Mrs. Jacobs No Longer
Allowed to Weep at Lover's Bier

Goaded past all reason by a fear that even in death she is not to be allowed to care for the husband whose affections were ruthlessly torn from her while he was alive, and driven to a desperation which amounts to hysterical mania by the belief that a carefully laid plot for the stealing of the body of the dead physician as it lies in the morgue is under way, Mrs. Eugene G. Wood, deserted wife of the murdered man who met his death at the hands of Gabriel Jacobs Thursday night, this morning overthrew all arrangements for the private burial of the body which had been arranged for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

No Reason Given

Distraught and wholly unnerved by the ordeal through which she has passed, the woman refused to give any reason for her strange act.

Preparations to remove the body to her home at 205 Athol avenue were almost complete, the minister, the Rev. Dr. Snyder of the faith of the Seventh Day Adventists, had been engaged and a quartet from San Francisco were on their way to this city before the mysterious orders were issued.

Proves Sensation

Following so closely on Mrs. Wood's demand that the remains be locked in and carefully guarded in a private room at the morgue, which were carried out at 8 o'clock last night, today's developments come in the nature of a sensation which promises to rival the first news of the shooting and suicide.

Extremely reticent over the alleged plot, E. James Finney, the undertaker, in whose hands the arrangements for the last rites have been placed by the widow, this morning refused to make any statement bearing on the chaotic condition into which matters have again been plunged by the widow's command.

"The funeral will not be held this afternoon so much is certain," he stated, in answer to a request for an authentic version of the affair, "whether can I say."

BURGLARS RAID FIVE HOUSES

Petty Thieves Secure Loot in Various Sections of the City

Five burglaries were reported to the police within the last twenty-four hours. The first to be reported was from the residence of Charles Hansen, 1324 Linden street. The thieves effected an entrance through the front door by means of a key and secured $22 worth of jewelry. The robbery occurred some time during the afternoon.

Howard Rayburn of 1782 Seventh street reports to the police that his room was entered yesterday and a suit case containing a suit of clothes and other personal effects stolen.

C. J. Twomey, a merchant tailor at 1273 Broadway, reports his place having been entered last night and $60 worth of clothes stolen. Entrance was effected through a rear window.

E. E. Winters of 1262 Broadway states that an attempt was made to rob his place last night by prying open the rear door. The effort failed, however, and nothing was taken.

Burglars paid the drug store of Phillips & Phillips, corner of Bay avenue and East Fourteenth street, a visit last night. They bored holes around the lock, but before reaching an entrance were scared away by a clerk sleeping within the place.

AMERICA'S ACT IS COERCION DECLARES ZELAYA

Nicaragua's President Claims He Has Been Condemned Without Hearing

OBJECTS TO ATTITUDE OF SECRETARY KNOX

Latin-Americans, He Says, Look Askance on Action of United States

MANAGUA, Dec. 11.—"The United States unjustly condemns my administration," said President Zelaya in an interview with a staff correspondent of the Associated Press today. "I proposed to Secretary of State Knox that he submit the case to the investigation of a committee of his own choosing, agreeing to surrender my rights to the presidency if charges in his letter to Elvira Herrera, former Nicaraguan minister to the United States, were sustained. Secretary Knox has not replied."

Defenses against the hostility of a powerful nation, although I, although I have been condemned, unheard. "The coercion on the part of the United States will not redound to its credit as a nation, whose motives are questioned in all Latin America. The showing of Groce and Cannon was a pretext. Both were amenable to the laws of Nicaragua, which distinctly authorized the shooting of individuals commanding rebels."

FEARS MORE TROUBLE.

"It is different if a person is captured in the course of an international war. The United States is not a party to the establishment of the invalidity of American participation in foreign revolutions will result in constant revolutions led by immune Americans."

The initiative in the shooting of Groce and Cannon was not mine. I simply refused to extend clemency to them after a properly constituted military tribunal had passed upon the case."

President Zelaya then related several instances, in which he had refused to grant clemency to rebels. He said he was endeavoring to raise a loan in France when his embassy was surrounded by the United States. He said he was endeavoring to raise a loan in France when his embassy was surrounded by the United States. He said he was endeavoring to raise a loan in France when his embassy was surrounded by the United States.

SEEKING A SUCCESSOR.

"I am in negotiation with the revolutionaries to secure their endorsement of a successor who will be acceptable to all parties and have submitted the name of Jose Madriz, judge of the supreme court. I hope this will obviate the necessity for American intervention, which would be intensely distasteful to all Latin Americans. I am informed that it is the intention of the United States to prevent this from occurring. I do not believe this is true."

BLAMES CABRERA.

"The hostility of the United States," continued Zelaya, "is due to the machinations of Senor Cabrera, president of Guatemala, whom I released in 1906 to join in an offensive against Mexico and thereby thwarted his efforts to establish a virtual dictatorship in Central America. Since then Cabrera has pursued me with relentless enmity, poisoning the public mind against me."

"I am preparing to refute the statement of Secretary Knox relative to the contemptuous treatment of American diplomats here by submitting to him a letter from John Gardiner, Consul General in Nicaragua, expressing appreciation for the cordial treatment given him."

Says Her Husband Pawned Her Jewels

An Interlocutory decree of divorce was granted in the Superior Court this morning to George M. Kiehl from Clifford Kiehl on the grounds of willful neglect and failure to provide for her.

FAILS TO BREAK WILL MADE BY HER MOTHER

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Eva Fairbanks' attempt to break the will of her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Maynard, failed today in an unsuccessful ending in Judge Coffey's court yesterday, when the will, leaving a $20,000 estate to Mrs. Grace Nelson of 2689 California street, a sister of the testatrix, was admitted to probate.

The Mercantile Trust company is the executor.

Mrs. Maynard died September 20, 1909, and her will was dated seven days before her death. Mrs. Fairbanks, the testatrix's daughter, was 33 at the time and unable to visit the dying woman.

She claimed her sister took advantage of this incident to secure a will in her favor.

SUE FOR DISSOLUTION.

The Credit Bureau Company of San Francisco has filed in the Superior Court its opposition to the granting of the petition filed by the stockholders of the Preferred Mutual Life of California for the dissolution of the latter corporation. The petitioner claims a claim of $1000 against the Preferred Mutual, which it alleges is valid, and demands that the corporation settle it before being allowed to dissolve.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Men's club of the First Free Baptist church held last evening the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. William Robert Reid; vice-president, Rev. James S. Cato; secretary, W. O. Buel; and treasurer, E. D. Pettit. The next annual meeting of the club will be held the third Friday in January.

DISLOCATES HER JAW WITH FERVOR OF OSCULATION

"Victim of a Kiss" or "The Perils of Osculation," both suggest themselves as fitting titles for the domestic drama in the home of Royce McNeil in this city, who, returning after a day's work, kissed his waiting wife with such fervor and spontaneity that he dislocated her jaw on Thursday night. The misplaced member was set by a physician hastily called in and last evening Mrs. McNeil was able to attend the theater, with the warning, however, that she must be extremely "careful" during the next few days.

"I don't know how it could have happened," says McNeil. "Mrs. McNeil agrees with me. 'It was surprising.'"

NICARAGUA REBELS ARE HARD PRESSED

Zelaya's Army Has Upper Hand and Is Ready for Decisive Battle

Dixie arrive at Colon, where they are expected this afternoon they will find awaiting them orders to proceed immediately to Panama and go aboard the transport Bufalo. This seems to indicate that some movement of consequence on the Pacific Coast of Nicaragua is in contemplation.

REBELS HARD PRESSED.

ELIZABETH, Nic., Dec. 11.—A staff correspondent of the Associated Press who recently arrived here, has canvassed the situation and finds it less hopeful for the insurgents than had been believed.

General Estrada is greatly disturbed and has appealed to United States Secretary Knox to intervene by the United States to save the insurgents' cause.

While Gen. Vasquez, at the head of a handful of loyal troops, is besieging Estrada's camp before Rama, it is said the main army of Zelaya was marching on Huacacoma.

STRONG ZELAYA FORCE.

A disquieting report comes from Greytown, which is said to contain a government force sufficient to resist the besieging troops under General Chamorro whenever the word is given.

It is possible that the Provisionals are unduly alarmed, just as they appear to have been over confident, but the situation is really as it is viewed from the insurgents' standpoint.

There has been a sudden and unpleasant realization of government weakness and insurgent weakness.

President Zelaya, however, as would Estrada and the latter's chief hope is in American intervention.

CONFERENCE A BLIND.

It is said that the government troops, near Rama, which the insurgents had interpreted as a sign of yielding on the part of Zelaya's forces, was a blind intended to obtain a delay of the expected battle until the loyal army had been re-equipped.

It is also learned that when Zelaya had kept a scattered force before Rama, his real army of 200 men was being by forced marches towards Bluefields.

ESTRADA OUTFLANKED.

General Estrada endeavored to conceal his attempt by informing the correspondents at the front that all was tranquil with the prospect that Gen. Vasquez and Major Eva would surrender.

Ten minutes after he had talked with the insurgents, General Estrada was seen to flee in haste, and Adolfo Diaz, on the telephone, was telling him that the Americans should send more marines before Gen. Vasquez's army was outflanked.

APPEALS TO U. S. CONSUL.

Estrada also expressed the opinion that a request should be made of the United States Government for protection of Americans in Bluefields.

Diaz rushed to United States Consul Moffatt with the intelligence and the consul assured him that Commander Shipley's marines from the cruiser Des Moines, with their six rapid guns, would be able to control the situation there.

It was reported today that Major Eva, Governor of the Government, was the man who survived the telegraph line across the country and that none knows better the hidden ways through the forested swamps and hills.

MARINES MAY PARTICIPATE.

If President Taft is determined that Zelaya shall be deposed, it is believed that United States troops will find active participation in the struggle necessary.

Yesterday's temporary truce is at an end. Monday night General Estrada received information that a large force of Government troops was stationed near Bluefields and that the cause of alarm, which was augmented by the report brought by the cruiser Des Moines that Zelaya's men were in the far from the desperate condition, which has been reported here.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

They are said to number more than 3000 well fed and well paid soldiers and are opposed only by General Chamorro with 800 insurgents.

The ex-captain of the army in Greytown is said to be the main reason why it does not leave its quarters and attack Chamorro.

Millionaire's Son Is Shot and Killed

LEAD, S. D., Dec. 11.—Dede McKenzie, son of Murdoch McKenzie, the millionaire cattlemen of Trinidad, Colo., was shot and killed shortly before noon today in this city. The man who did the shooting, "Bud" Stevens, was shot and arrested. The affair caused great excitement.

Balmwort In Mixture

Recommended for Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatic Sufferers. New Drug Compound. Very Fine.

The function of the kidneys is to filter and strain the impurities from the blood. Pains in the urinary region and the small of the back indicate that the kidneys are sick and need treatment. Neglecting such symptoms, brings rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy, heart trouble, and a simple home treatment will restore and keep the kidneys in fine working order. Being a mild, balmy, healing tonic, and young can use with perfect safety. One-half ounce fluid extract Buchu; compound fluid Balmwort, one ounce; compound syrup Sarsaparilla, two ounces; mix in a bottle. Take a teaspoonful before each meal. At night take another dose, drinking plenty of water.

A local druggist says he sells it frequently for the best physicians.

MOORE TELLS OF THE AGREEMENT

Admits That He Signed and Verified the So-called Glavis Affidavit

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 11.—Fred Cushing Moore, State mining inspector for Idaho, who was one of the first entrants for whom Clarence Cunningham looked a coal claim in Alaska, testified in the Alaska coal lands inquiry today that his first agreement with the Cunningham should have an eighth interest in the claim for his compensation for making the location and performing such services as were necessary to secure it.

This agreement was abrogated later by mutual agreement between Cunningham and himself and it was then agreed that Cunningham should be given a salary for his services in locating the witnesses and others who secured claims in the famous Cunningham group, each of the entrants to pay his proportionate share of the salary.

Moore admitted that he had signed and verified the so-called Glavis affidavit, but said he had been misled as to its meaning.

Anderson Makes Hot Sprint in Bike Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Practically the only excitement of the race up to early afternoon was the sprinting of Anderson. He broke away from the bunch of riders four times and each time gained a lap. His partner, Vanoni, leading at opposite corners. Despite this, the Anderson-Vanoni team was still last at 2 o'clock. Score: Butt-Cook, 2,594.8 miles; Root-Gogler, Waltham-Collins, Hillstein, 2,594.3 miles; Eastwood-Helmer, 2,594.7; Lawson-Barnes, 2,594.4; George-Swager, 2,594.6; Anderson-Vanoni, 2,594.3.

The record for the 194th hour is 2586 miles.

Switchmen Expect Support of Labor

ST. PAUL, Dec. 11.—There was no material change in the strike situation today, according to reports from both sides.

The executive council of the State Federation of Labor will hold a meeting tomorrow when it is expected that resolutions will be adopted extending the moral and financial support of the federation to the striking switchmen.

Cruel Mother Is Sentenced to Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Eulalia Hooper, convicted yesterday of cruelty to children for placing the hand of her little six-year-old son, Robert, on a hot stove, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Sherrill today.

HIS SUIT FOR SALARY IS ARGUED IN COURT

E. B. Fraser's suit to compel the county treasurer to pay him his salary as secretary of the Alameda County Board of Prisoners for the month of November, which the treasurer held up on the ground that the board creating the board was unconstitutional, was argued before Judge J. H. Edwards today.

Legislative Attorney Clark represented Fraser. Kelly and Judge Samples presented the argument for Fraser. The court directed him to submit their respective positions by brief, granting the district attorney's office until December 20 and counsel for plaintiff a week longer in which to submit their briefs.

ONLY SCRAPE OFF PAINT WHEN THEY COLLIDED

NORFOLK, Dec. 11.—The collision between the battleships Georgia and Nebraska during tactical evolutions on the southern drill grounds only a few days ago, Thursday seems to have been rather inconsequential, sensational reports of the accounts being declared to be an exaggeration.

The Georgia had a small amount of paint scraped off one side and her bridge was slightly bent, but reports to the effect that two signalmen on the bridge at the time were badly hurt are denied.

BURGLAR LIESURELY GOES THROUGH ENTIRE HOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—A burglar, who entered the residence of Andrew Thorne, 1281 Greenwich street, last evening, during the temporary absence of the family, ransacked the place from cellar to garret, securing clothing, silverware, and other articles to the value of $750.

Philomena Stevens was called in and made a report of the affair, but was unable to find anything that would give a clue to the thief.

WAR OF SEXES IS PREDICTED

Tyranny of Man Now Bothering Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and She Protests

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A war of hatred between the sexes was predicted last night by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont. It must come, said she, unless equal suffrage is granted to woman. An audience of 200 men and women gathered at a meeting of the Men's Club of the All Souls' Universalist Church in Brooklyn to hear the suffragette leader and other speakers.

"How any man of the present day can be proud of the Declaration of Independence, which applies to but one-half of the people, or of the Constitution, that allows only one-half of the people to govern themselves, is something I cannot understand," said Mrs. Belmont.

"To me it represents the greatest injustice created another war. I do not mean by this a war such as men have always waged -- of bloodshed and death -- but one of bitter antagonism -- almost of hatred between the sexes. For this must come if you will not face the actual situation and give to women absolute equality of rights."

"The patriarchal age is past. The girl of today must find occupation beyond the parental roof and the widow must stand alone in the struggle for existence. Even the little child must stand and wait for bread."

"As you men have assumed control of every situation, why do you mete out to women half the pay for the same work for which you give yourself full pay? Can you believe that the women will much longer submit to this old time yoke of barbarous subjugation?"

Think That Dr. Cook Has Gone to Europe

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—While I am not authorized to give a statement regarding the whereabouts of Dr. Fredrick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, I can say without violating any confidence that I am satisfied he is in Europe and that he will appear next week before the committee of the University of Copenhagen, which is examining his polar data.

This statement was made last night by an intimate friend of Dr. Cook, who insisted that he had every reason to believe that within the next forty-eight hours the explorer will come out of seclusion and issue a statement covering every phase of the polar controversy.

BODY OF CHILD DROWNED ON THE ARYO IS FOUND

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 11.—The body of a child was washed up on Olafson Spit late Friday. The head and arms are missing and the trunk badly decomposed. It is thought here that it is the body of Nellie Hunter, 11 years old, who was lost in the wreck of the steamer Argo at Tillamook November 26 last.

DIVORCE SUITS FILED.

The following divorce suits have been instituted in the Superior Court:

Edith Hensley against George Hensley, married in Nevada in December, 1902; willful desertion. Eldur Olsen against Ole Olsen, married in March, 1909; extreme cruelty.

Abscesses

"I should feel guilty of ingratitude if I did not tell of the benefit I have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five ugly and painful abscesses formed in the lower part of my abdomen. I was confined to my bed thirteen weeks, and the pain was almost unbearable. A neighbor suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did. I began to improve immediately, the abscesses began to heal, and I continued to take the medicine until I was well."

PULLMAN WORKS DEAL IS CLOSED

Work on the New Plant Will Be Started Early in March

Richmond Dean, general manager of the Pullman Palace Car company, closed the deal yesterday for twenty-one acres of land for a site for extensive repair shops which are to be built at once, at a cost of $500,000.

The papers which consummated the trade passed yesterday afternoon, and General Manager Dean took them with him to Chicago on the eastbound overland train which left in the evening.

Mr. Dean was accompanied by his wife, General Superintendent S. S. Hingerford and Edward Solas, one of the chief stockholders of the Pullman Car company.

The tract constitutes a part of the Lovetree property. It lies immediately north of the Contra Costa county line and is conveniently located to the main lines of the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific company. It is, therefore, in close touch with Berkeley and Oakland, and will be tributary to both, as well as to Richmond, which lies to the north of it.

General Manager Dean said, before leaving:

"We hope to begin construction about March 1, next year. Details of the plant will be worked out in my offices at Chicago and as soon as these are perfected we shall announce the character and number of buildings. At any rate, they will be of first class construction, probably of concrete and steel."

"We shall have a forty-stall car repair shop and in addition shops for upholstering, painting, truck and machine shops."

"What land we have obtained will be required entirely for shop purposes. Although we shall afford employment for 700 or 800 persons, we have made no provision for their shelter and probably will not erect rental cottages and buildings. Our pay roll will amount to about $60,000 a month. The plant will cost $500,000 and ought to be completed early in 1919."

PERFECT PROTECTION

against ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels is assured when the system is kept strong and active with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

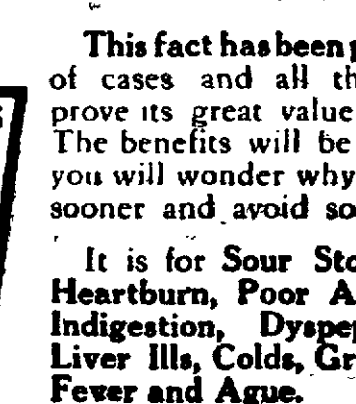

The proper care of the digestive organs is one of the most important problems of everyday life, for it is through them that we receive our health and strength. Too often, however, you are prone to be careless, and by either abuse or neglect allow these organs to become weak and unable to properly perform their duties.

As a result you fail to derive proper nourishment from your food, you lose flesh rapidly, and the system becomes weak, and emaciated. Now, you cannot afford to allow such conditions to continue and run the chances of having a long and perhaps serious illness.

What your system requires is a short course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters at once. It is compounded from ingredients best adapted for this particular work and by its direct and immediate action on the digestive organs, soon restores them to a normal condition.

This fact has been proven in thousands of cases and all that is necessary to prove its great value is to try a bottle. The benefits will be so noticeable that you will wonder why you did not try it sooner and avoid so much suffering.

It is for Sour Stomach, Headache, Heartburn, Poor Appetite, Vomiting, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Liver Ills, Colds, Grippe and Malaria, Fever and Ague.

THE MEDDLER

MISS GEORGEINA TAFT, whose engagement to Wayne Matthews is announced.

MISS ELIZABETH STITT, who is to be hostess at a merry house party at the country home of her father, Dr. J. W. Stitt, at Vacaville during the holidays.

THESE midwinter December days are the very busiest of the year. For the happy housekeeper has much to do in planning for her friends, for her home, for her relatives near and far, and always for her charities. No woman worth while would expect to enjoy a happy Christmastide in the midst of dear ones if she had not first sent Christmas joy to some poor, sad heart that needed it.

Christmas is really the great holiday of the year because it belongs to the children. It carries on the story of the little Christ child, in the wonderful crib at Bethlehem, and the glory of the story shines in the hearts of the children of each succeeding generation.

Christmas has its sordid side, of course—poor human nature cannot always be perfect—and in many of the large stores there are exchange counters, where gifts are passed back by dissatisfied women. For there are always people who would prefer "something else" to the gifts they receive.

Then there are the people who make of their Christmas giving a great burden, planning gifts beyond their means and giving to people in a sort of "exchange" way.

But all these people are few in number as compared to the great masses, who are glad to work happily for the beautiful Christmas joy they may bring to relatives and friends.

And so the Christmas gifts make a brave showing in the many shop windows. Christmas greens and Christmas bells are beginning to appear and anxious shoppers move slowly through the crowds. Underlying it all is the splendid activity of the happy Yuletide season.

MANY CHRISTMAS CHARITIES.

It is a good sign of the times that in the midst of her busiest season the woman of today finds time for the many Christmas charities. Without her Christmas would be a sad season for the many in our dependent classes.

The directors of the Providence Hospital Auxiliary plan each year a Christmas tree for their St. Joseph's ward, which is the poor ward of the hospital. It is amusing how greatly these sick people enjoy the burst of brightness brought to them in this Christmas tree, shining in all its glory. At Fabiola there is also a Christmas tree, and the nurses and convalescent patients imagine, for a time at least, that the hospital is home to them. And happy are the hearts in the little children's annex because of Mrs. Mark Requa's goodness in planning for them Christmas brightness.

The free kindergartens have glorious big trees, and all the mothers come in and join the children in happy hours.

At Arbor Villa an immense Christmas tree holds the center of the big hall. It is a noble tree and towers high, holding in its wide-spreading branches the many shining ornaments, representing a collection of years. All the children from the cottages in Cottage Hill gather about the big Christmas tree and make merry, and surely loving thoughts must go out to the memory of the late Mary R. Smith, whose good work goes so nobly on.

Miss Grace Trevor is at the head of a committee which is planning the big tree for the children of the West Oakland Home, and Miss Matilda Brown and Miss Anne Miner are the moving spirits in the gladness planned for the dear old ladies and for the little children who are the care of the Ladies' Relief Association. A big tree is always part of the Christmas celebration, and it is hard to tell which are the more joyful—the little children or the dear old ladies.

Those who were fortunate enough to be present at Christmas celebrations in the past, remember the wonderful Christmas trees planned by Mr. and the late Mrs. Thomas Prather. Wonderful Christmas trees they were, with the most gorgeous dolls for the little girls, and wonderful big bats and balls and other things that make a little boy's heart glad. For no little child in all a big city ever ought to think himself forgotten by Santa Claus—that would be, indeed, too great a sorrow for a little child's heart to bear.

At the Prather Christmas tree Harrison Clay was the Santa Claus, and the reindeer used to bring him in the most wonderful fashion. He used to arrive clad in a gorgeous coat of fur and snapping an enormous whip, and he was altogether such a gorgeous personage that at first we were inclined to be afraid of him, and the little girls approached the august personage to receive their big dolls in more or less fear and trembling.

But jokes were cracked as well as the big whip, and the little people found out what a nice big generous Santa Claus had come to the Christmas tree.

And after the tree was the real party—for "the party" never happens till the ice cream is served, and no man could ever have been so happy as Thomas Prather as he looked down upon that Christmas banquet table, with its crowd of little children, in whose faces shone the light of a Christmas joy.

mas prayer of Dickens' "Tiny Tim"—"God bless them, every one."

CHRISTMAS TREES AT THE HACIENDA.

Certain Christmas trees have come to be truly historic in the annals of the country, the largest of which is always the Christmas tree at the Hacienda, Mrs. Hearst's country home near Pleasanton. Mrs. Hearst, when she is in California, always spends Christmas at the Hacienda, and the glorious Christmas tree radiates joy to all the many dependents which make up the great household.

The great Christmas tree is always set up in the big music room, which is one of the most wonderful rooms on the coast, filled, as it is, with the rarest art treasures from all over the world. And the hostess of the Hacienda wants everyone to be so happy that her kindness for others and her generous care for them adds to the joy in the heart of their Christmas time. And surely never were greetings more sincere, more straight from the hearts of friends than those that wing their way to her, bearing the message of "Merry Christmas."

LARGE CHRISTMAS TREE AT HIGHLANDS.

One of the largest trees one finds anywhere at Christmas is always set up at Highlands, and Mrs. Requa always decorates it with her own hands. For years she has been collecting the ornaments for the tree, and her five happy grandchildren regard it as a vision of loveliness. The younger generation may sing all their songs of low ceilings and picturesque little bungalows, but they make no environment for all the shining glory of a wonderful Christmas tree. This is where "the ancestral hall" comes in; there is space, atmosphere, for this Christmas tree, which brings with it a suggestion of the California mountains where it was grown.

All the Christian world tells the same story on Christmas day, whither Santa Claus comes with his reindeer, and being a magic Santa Claus comes down our chimneys for the stockings awaiting him, or whether he is the good Kris Kingle of Germany, who presides over the happy destinies of the many shining Christmas trees of the land.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES FOR NEXT WEEK.

Many Christmas festivities are scheduled for next week, and there is a holiday note in many of the preparations.

The largest dinner of the month is that planned in New York in honor of William Randolph Hearst—a public tribute to him of appreciation of his wonderful success in the great fight against Tammany. The banquet is to be given at the Hotel Astor, and there will be assembled a thousand guests, among them clergymen representing every denomination.

It is the greatest possible compliment to Mr. Hearst, and a public tribute like that in the greatest city of the United States is a holiday gift of which a man may well be proud.

CALIFORNIA COMING INTO ITS OWN.

After all, California is coming into its own in the matter of a certain appreciation from the rest of the country. There was a time when we looked up to New England as the center of all that was best in literary development. New England led the way for us, and awe-struck we gazed upon her greatness from afar. "The wild and woolly West" was a phrase that sounded often in our ears. Conditions were crude out here, and we worshiped at the shrine of historic New England, for there was to be found the culture of one's dreams.

We have lived to see the day when New England is losing its prestige, and when Boston must look to its laurels. It is no longer the literary center of the continent. The West, the great West of the rolling prairies, the farther West, with its mountains, its great ocean boundary, sets up its standards, and it worships no longer at strange shrines. This is true in the world of literature, of art, of music, and of the stage one of the famous New York dailies writes:

"The Middle West, the South and that incubator of dramatic talent, the Pacific Coast, have the most 'native sons' on the stage. There is one society in New York composed of actors who have come from California."

RICHARD PARTINGTON GETS GOLD MEDAL.

And all this is apropos of the success of artists well known to us, among whom, high upon the list, is Richard Partington—clever, talented, unspoiled Richard Partington. All his friends are very glad of the good news that recently came to him, for our reads:

"The California commission at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition presents its compliments and takes pleasure in informing Mr. Partington that the official returns just received from the department of exhibits announces the award to him of a gold medal for his exhibit made in the California Building."

There is one thing certain—no medal sent out from the famous exposition was better deserved or won more fairly.

Mr. Partington sent two exceedingly fine pictures to the exposition, one the portrait in oils of Miss Nace, which attracted such general attention in the gallery at Piedmont, and the other an exceedingly fine study in marine views, "The Sounding Sea."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Partington have spent the summer and autumn at Sag Harbor, where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Havens. Mr. Partington has painted a picture of Mr. Havens which critics say is exceedingly good, and he has pointed also a very life-like portrait of Mrs. Havens, who is a most fascinating study always. She ought to pose for an exceedingly unique picture, for there is something about her that reminds one always of the rare pictures in old galleries abroad—the fascinating portraits that the old masters love to paint.

One hears that Mr. Partington has succeeded with both the portraits, on which he has been at work all summer, and the many friends and relatives of the Havens here are most anxious to see the work, of which they have heard so much.

MR. AND MRS. HAVENS IN NEW YORK.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Havens spent some time recently in New York at the Waldorf. They are both exceedingly fond of music and grand opera is one of the greatest charms of a New York winter.

No one understands the good points of a picture more quickly than Mr. Havens, and his well-known collection of pictures shows how very artistic he is.

The Havens are very happy always in their Eastern home, to which they have given the very pretty name of "Harbor Home." Mr. Havens is exceedingly fond of the sea, and often makes the trip from Sag Harbor to New York in his beautifully equipped yacht "Mascot." Long may it continue to deserve its name!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havens and Mr. and Mrs. Partington spent last week in Washington, a city that is specially bright and gay in the December holiday time. The Havens are to spend Christmas day in the East, and they will leave for California on the 26th of December.

Mrs. Havens has been away a long time on this last trip, and she is greatly missed. She has such a keen sense of humor, so much brightness, such a ready helpful sympathy in other people's life problems, that she means much not only to her relatives, but to her many friends.

Mr. Havens was born at Sag Harbor and the scenes of his boyhood days are very dear to him. But it goes without saying that his friends here are jealous of Eastern influences. Down deep in our hearts we know New York is the place to live—it's the great throbbing center of the continent; but we rarely say it out loud, and we begrudge it every great Westerner that it absorbs.

WEDDING OF MISS JOHNSON.

Never in the course of our winter was there such a storm as that which descended upon us on Wednesday evening, the time set for the wedding of Miss Arline Johnson and Charles

Towne. Of course, only a very few of the more venturesome of the guests could cross the bay, for crossing at night in the very heart of a big storm is a difficult matter. And even our own people found it a hard task to go from the outskirts of the city to the Linda Vista hills. But the Johnson home made a study all the more attractive against the gloomy background of the wild storm that raged outside.

The decorations of the house were unusually attractive, planned as they were along such cheerful color tones. The large hall was a study in holiday effects, and happy is the bride of Christmas tide, for here are all the charming arrangements of holiday holly and Christmas greens.

The drawing room presented a lovely picture to the guests as they waited for the coming of the bride. At one side was an improvised altar, very beautifully planned, in white and green and gold, and the remainder of the elaborate decorations were carried out in tones of old rose, quantities of American Beauty roses showing in masses everywhere. The drawing-room is a large room, and it was wonderfully effective in its lovely decorations, and made a beautiful background for the wedding party.

The latter appeared promptly at half after eight, the hour for the wedding, the ushers leading the way—John Edwards, W. C. Dibblee, Gardner Towne and Frank Brewer.

Josephine Johnson was the maid of honor, and she preceded the bridesmaids, Miss Grace Towne, Miss Beatrice Simpson, Miss Dorothy Van Sicken and Miss Winifred Braden.

They were followed by the bride, Miss Johnson, who made an attractive picture in one of the most elaborate costumes of the winter.

The marriage service was read by Rev. John Bakewell of Trinity Church and it was followed by an informal reception, when congratulations and good wishes were the order of the hour.

An elaborate wedding supper was served under the direction of Mary Hallahan, in which toasts, with eloquent responses, were a charming feature of the hour.

The gowns of the girls of the wedding party were among the most attractive seen here this year. The brides' costume was specially elaborate. Her gown was of heavy white satin, made with a very long train and beautifully applied in rose point lace. The wedding veil was caught up with sprays of orange blossoms, and she carried an elaborate shower bouquet of lilacs-of-the-valley and orchids.

The color scheme for the bridesmaids' gowns was specially attractive. Miss Josephine Johnson looked exceptionally well in a gown of American Beauty roses, the gown elaborately trimmed in lace, and she carried a large bouquet of splendid American Beauty roses.

The gowns of the five bridesmaids were specially bright and pretty. They were made of a lovely shade of pale green, messaline, elaborately spangled in silver, and nothing is so effective in the way of trimming as silver spangles.

Miss Dorothy Van Sicken was a specially charming study, and deserves in many ways her popularity as one of the belles of the winter across the bay.

Many beautiful costumes were seen at the Johnson-Towne wedding, and among the handsome gowns were those worn by Mrs. William Pierce Johnson, Mrs. Orestes Pierce, Mrs. Norman Lang, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Frank L. Brown, Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. George Greenwood, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Miss M. Near, Mrs. Van Sicken, Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mrs. Braden, Miss Grice.

Mr. and Mrs. Towne have gone south on a wedding trip, and their future home will be at Palo Alto.

MRS. ROSENFELD GIVES A LUNCHEON.

Among the most interesting of the holiday luncheons was that planned for Tuesday by Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, who entertained sixteen friends at the Hotel St. Francis. The Rosenfelds are making their permanent home at the St. Francis, but though they live across the bay many of their most intimate friends are over here, among them the Nicholsons, the De Gollas, the Edward Engs, the Wickham Havens, the J. Loran Pease, Mr. and Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. Alexander. Very few hostesses are as popular as Mrs. Rosenfeld. She is so generous, so genuinely good of heart, that her friends are fond of her, and they rarely send a regret when they are fortunate enough to be invited to any of her entertainments.

MISS GLADYS MAXWELL A BRIDGE HOSTESS.

Pretty Miss Gladys Maxwell was a bride hostess last Saturday, entertaining delightfully in her Piedmont home thirty-five of her young girl friends. Miss Maxwell, who is a debutante of last season, is a most charming girl, with quaint, original ways, and she looks very much like her bright young mother, quite like a younger sister to the latter.

The Maxwell home at Piedmont certainly carries off honors for artistic effects; it is high up on the range of the foothills, the house showing good architectural lines, and the fence around it is of piled up stones, in over, rock and cranny of which

Constant Trouble Between the Tongs Make the Place
Undesirable

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The arrival of his excellency Chang Yin Tang, the newly appointed minister from China, who is to succeed Minister Wu at Washington, who comes with his family, a large retinue of official consuls, students and others has turned the Francis Hotel into a scene of Oriental splendor. A larger set of apartments is required for the party than for any that has heretofore registered at the hotel.

Most of today was spent by the delegation in visiting the various points of interest about the city and in the company of the visitors who are constantly coming and going, making the reception of the embassy an event in hotel circles.

One of the most significant of the statements made by the various members of the party is that prominent Chinese are loathe to accept the position of consul in this city by reason of the almost constant strife between the various tongs, and going, making the reception of the embassy an event in hotel circles.

Minister Chang is accompanied by his wife, his son, Henry, and the Chinese staff, his entire party numbering more than fifty persons. He is one of the most distinguished and prominent of the statesmen of China and was born in Canton in 1859. He is a jurist, a literary man, and a statesman.

He also served as consul in this city for some time and is the first well known in the local Oriental quarter. The entire party leaves for Washington tomorrow.

SCHOOL CHILDREN PLAN ART EXHIBIT

Students at Longfellow in Alameda Have Extended Public Display

ALAMEDA, Dec. 11.—Two hundred world famous pictures are being exhibited at the Longfellow school. The exhibit and an entertainment will be held this evening. The are exhibit is arranged in groups, including reproductions of Egyptian, Greek, Roman, Dutch and modern art. It includes some of the finest reproductions of famous artists now on the market and will be of interest to teachers and parents. The following are available guides will relate the story in connection with the paintings.

Teachers should read Albert's of the Longfellow School history, this excellent exhibit for the purpose of instruction on the pupils and as an appeal to the public. The following exhibits will be purchased for each classroom in the building.

Exhibits include one of the manual training work done by the pupils. Card-board, maps and read work of the first and second grades. The work of the sewing and woodwork of the upper classes.

The classes will be at work in the cloak room from 7:15 o'clock to 8:35 o'clock this evening. This plan has been arranged for the purpose of giving the public a visit to the schools during the day.

There is a portrait studio, a perfume and toilet outfit studio, a hair dressing studio, and a hair dressing studio, all of which will undoubtedly interest the public.

This evening an operaette entitled "Bonny-bell" will be produced by the "Bonny-bell" club. There are 250 participants whose voices have been trained for the operaette.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

SECRETARY KNOX
AND NICARAGUA

The energy with which Secretary of State Knox has addressed himself to the Nicaragua problem indicates that we have at the head of the State Department an official who has the courage of his convictions. Our Federal Government has been fortunate in the high character and ability of its Secretaries of State. Mr. Knox is a lawyer of eminence, and no doubt understands the situation in Nicaragua, or such a formidable demonstration against the little country would not be made.—The Wasp.

DUNCANS AND THEIR GREEK COSTUMES

Some of the newspapers were aroused to serious contemplation of Raymond Duncan's grand entry into Philadelphia, himself and family being draped with the flowing garb of ancient Greece. It was a cold, blasty day, the sort that makes the ordinary man disappear within as much clothing as he can afford. Duncan, his wife, 4-year-old son, and sister-in-law came down the gang-plank of the American liner bare-headed and bare-legged.

The present generation in San Francisco have forgotten the name of Deacon Duncan, who was a saintly man who kept a bank where high interest was paid, after the manner of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company. By the way, I think the Duncan bank was located on that identical corner. One fine day the Duncan establishment failed to open its doors, and the good deacon was missing. So was his son-in-law, Le Wame, who had been the cashier. The depositors who had so greatly trusted the saintly banker, but their coin was not to be charmed back to their pockets by mere vociferation. Then the authorities took the matter in hand. Captain Lees was a great detective in those early days, and nobody has since excelled him in ability to round up fugitive mammals. The newspapers, of course, started off on the wrong scent. The deacon and his "wicked partner," they said, had skipped over the high seas to foreign parts. Captain Lees said nothing. He generally had a theory of his own in such matters, and in this instance his theory was that the smooth deacon was hiding somewhere in San Francisco and being looked after by friends. Watch was set on a certain person, and the Captain's surmises proved to be correct. The missing bankers were nabbed in a house which had been rented for them. Le Wame was caught the moment the detectives entered the place, but the wily deacon had hidden himself the instant the door of the house was made. Clothes and collar were inspected, but no trace of the fugitive could be found till Captain Lees tried to pull out the drawer of a bureau and found the old banker hidden in the harmless-looking piece of furniture. The drawer had been cut out and the back of the bureau removed, so as to furnish a ready hiding-place for the sanctimonious culprit.—The Wasp.

SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Mrs. T. Edward F. Hall is entertaining considerably this winter and is giving a series of delightful affairs. Cards are out for her luncheon on Saturday, the 18th of December, at the opening of the Palace Hotel. Mrs. Hall intends giving a large bridge party during the first week of January, and still another affair is being planned by this popular hostess. To the luncheon at the Palace Hotel, on the 15th inst., thirty guests have been invited. The luncheon will be followed by bridge. Mrs. Hall was Miss Stella Fortmann before her marriage to Dr. Hall, a prominent physician of San Francisco.—The Wasp.

ARRIVAL

Mrs. Andrew McCree's arrival in San Francisco is due to the pleasant condition of her son's affairs. Mrs. McCree is a clever woman, and her advice will be of much more assistance in straightening out the complication than would the services of a large staff of the most capable lawyers. There is very little, indeed, that a lawyer can do effectively in the matter. Mr. Walter McCree claims that he is sane and perfectly competent to manage his affairs, and is indignant because his brother and his wife placed him in a sanatorium, so he alleges. Mr. Walter McCree and his wife had been considered a very affectionate couple, and were so regarded by their relatives. The friends of the family in California do not believe that Mr. Walter McCree's wife or his brother Richard could be prompted by any unworthy motives in placing him in a sanatorium. Mrs. Walter McCree is highly regarded by the California acquaintances. It is evident, therefore, that the mother of Mr. Walter McCree is the best person to give advice in the matter. Mrs. McCree is a San Francisco woman, but has not lived in this city permanently for years. She prefers Europe, and sometimes occupies a villa in Italy. She is a highly accomplished woman. Mr. McCree, Sr. and Mrs. McCree have been separated for many years. While she lives in Europe Mr. McCree puts most of his time in San Francisco, being a pioneer, who prefers Western life to the capitals of Europe. He is a much richer man than most San Francisco people imagine. His wealth is estimated at $15,000,000 or $16,000,000, a large part of which was made by very lucky mining investments. He owns very valuable property in several large American cities, and is the owner of the Central Park property on Market street, opposite Eighth, which alone represents a large fortune.—The Wasp.

DEATH OF
MR. GEORGE CROCKER

The death of George Crocker was a sad affair, and to the public it was a surprise; but the intimate friends of Mr. Crocker had been aware for a year that he was unfortunately doomed to a premature death from cancer. That awful malady had made such inroads on his health a year ago that those who knew him best were convinced that medical aid would be unable to save his life. Mr. Crocker was a man who made warm friendships and retained them. He was supposed to anything like ostentation in though his fortune was a large one. In fact, ostentation has not been a characteristic of any of the Crocker family, despite the immensity of their worldly possessions.—The Wasp.

PLACED IN THE FAMILY VAULT

It was George Crocker's wish that he should be interred in California, and the remains will be placed in the Crocker mausoleum in Oakland, having been brought from New York in a special car which left on Tuesday evening over the Lake Shore Limited. Another special car was occupied by the funeral party, which consisted of William H. Crocker and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, and Mr. Templeton Crocker and Miss Jennie Crocker. Besides the members of the Crocker family who attended the funeral of Mr. George Crocker in New York, there were present amongst the many well-known people Mr. and Mrs. Thurl, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, Eugene D. Hawkins, Alexander Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Langston Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kearny, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Childs, Ogden Mills, Frank H. Davis, David Barnes, General and Mrs. Thomas H. Hubbard, Everett Tacey, James C. Colgate, Charles H. Macey, James Ponfostowski, C. I. Hudson, T. Suffer Taylor, G. Kane, Mrs. William Jay, Mr. and Mrs. James Barclay, Mrs. James D. Haggis, Mr. Spreckels, Mrs. Carolyn, Messrs. Clark and Paulding Foadick, Colonel J. J. McCook, James Speyer.—The Wasp.

REOPENING OF THE PALACE HOTEL

The reopening of the Palace Hotel is the subject which is on every tongue at this time, and those who are fortunate enough to have reserved their tables for the "hotel banquet" are congratulating themselves. The "reopening" is not "opening," if you please, but "reopening," a banquet will be given under the auspices of the associated commercial organizations of the city, and will be held in the grand central court on the evening of Wednesday, December 16. Covers will be laid for 800 guests, and the price of $15 per plate will be charged. At this banquet Mayor Taylor will introduce Governor Gillot, who will act as toastmaster. Among the speakers will be George Knapf, John C. Kirkpatrick, managing director of the Palace Hotel Company, Samuel Shortridge, Stephen T. Gage, and many other prominent citizens. After this banquet the court will be cleared and the furniture will be replaced in its new quarters. The hotel will be opened at 1 o'clock, the regular will be opened and guests will be received.

Who will be the first to register is a question, as the management has decided to let the first come to the first served, and no effort will be made to have any particular one head the list. The first man to register on the old Palace register in 1875 was Leiland Stanford. On Thursday night, December 16, the first public dinner will be served in the dining-rooms of the Palace. It is estimated that the men's grill, the main restaurant, the banquet room and the ball room, all of which will be used, will accommodate about three hundred tables. From the present reservations, these tables will each average six guests, and seats for this night have been at a premium for weeks. The dinner served on this occasion will cost $5 per plate without wine, and will represent the very best that can be served anywhere.—The Wasp.

DIFFERENCES IN TWO PARISHES

There is a store in San Francisco where every deal in Catholic supplies. Recently a priest from a Latin Quarter parish entered the shop and asked for two record-books, one for marriages and one for births. Much to the saleswoman's surprise instead of picking out books of the same size he chose a very thin volume for the marriage record and a fat one for the births. Just a day later a clergyman from a Pacific Heights parish entered the same shop, and also asked for record-books. His choice was a thin volume for the births and a fat one for the marriages.—The Wasp.

A NOTABLE WEDDING
IN LONDON

Mrs. Henry Kerr of New York's aristocracy, who became the bride of Captain Charles Greville in London the other day, will become Lady Greville unless death or the divorce court should interfere. Captain Greville's elder brother, Captain Ronald Greville, died not long ago, and this makes Captain Charles Greville the heir to the title and estates. The widow of the late Captain Ronald Greville is in America at present, and has been in California. The recent wedding of Mrs. Henry Kerr and Captain Charles Greville was delayed for half an hour by an accident to the motor car which was carrying the fair bride to the church. The delay caused some anxiety and commotion, but all such feelings were forgotten when the bride did appear. She looked exceedingly handsome in a beautiful dress of white velvet made in the clinging style of the day. Prince Alexander of Teck was among those present at the church and at a small reception subsequently held by the bride's mother, Mrs. Grace, in Carlton House Terrace. The wedding was the occasion for a family reunion on the side of the Grevilles which attracted much attention. The bridegroom's parents have not been on speaking terms for years, and Lady Greville and her daughters were not friends. All the family, however, was so pleased at the match that it brought Lord and Lady Greville and Mrs. Hay, their daughter, together into one pew in the church. The house in Carlton House Terrace where Mrs. Grace held the reception belongs to Frederick Greville, and has been let for a year by the new Mrs. Greville, who intends to do a good deal of entertaining there on her return from her continental honeymoon.—The Wasp.

A QUEEN'S
FORTUNE

Queen Elizabeth's report on her estate, the bulk of which, according to her account, consisted of a vast amount of to charity, is somewhat of a surprise to those who thought the surviving member of the Kawanamaka branch would be the residuary legatee. The widow of Prince David Kawanamaka, brother of Prince Kihio (Cupid), is living in San Francisco now, occupying the handsome Merritt home in Presidio Terrace. As she is a young woman and strikingly handsome, it is thought she may not be willing to remain a widow always. Prince David left an estate valued at $100,000, but his widow, I understand, has only a life interest in it. However, she does not need the money, for she is extremely wealthy in her own right. She was Miss Abigail Campbell, and with her two sisters inherited a large fortune.—The Wasp.

THE MYSTERY SOLVED

The Thelot-Dolph engagement puzzle has at last been solved, and the betrothal, formally announced, was acknowledged last Sunday by Mr. Thelot, who declared his denial was prompted solely by consideration for Miss Dolph. The announcement in the San Francisco papers was made without the knowledge of either of the young people concerned, and since, at Miss Dolph's request, the engagement was to have been a carefully guarded secret until spring, Mr. Thelot gallantly rushed in with a denial, which, published a few days following the announcement, caused a mild sensation in society. But it seems that the Portland papers copied the San Francisco announcement, and provoked no denial from Miss Dolph, so it happened that at the moment Mr. Thelot was vigorously repudiating his fiancée she was graciously accepting the good wishes of her friends. It will be readily seen that here was a situation requiring the exchange of innumerable telegrams and much correspondence before it could be properly adjusted. Now, after many days, Mr. Thelot's published acknowledgment seems proof that the adjustment has been accomplished. Ferdinand Thelot is at present in Sacramento, where his business interests lie. He is a cousin of Eugene de Salla, not a nephew, as reported, and belongs to a prominent New York family. His great-uncle was Peter Marie, one of the famous beaus of his day, and an art connoisseur whose valuable collection of miniatures, which included most of the beauties of his time, was bequeathed, at his death to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Hazel Dolph is one of the most popular girls of Portland society, and her fiancée is coming in for cordial congratulations.—The Wasp.

EARNINGS

In the year of Patti's debut Strakosch paid her $100 a week. At her first operatic appearance in London in 1861 she received $750 a month. Previous to her first marriage in 1889 her earnings never exceeded $800 a night, but later, when Mme. Nilsson was engaged for $1000 Patti got $1050. Although these prices out a small figure in comparison with the song-birds receive at the Metropolitan and Manhattan, in New York, now, it is calculated that Patti's voice has earned her about $4,000,000.—The Wasp.

The holiday season has been made still more joyous in several local households by the visit of the stork for the first time. A fine baby boy has come to the Charles A. Monaghan, and has been given the name of Charles Portia Monaghan, in recognition of a notable year in the history of this native son. Mrs. Joe Sloss, nee Deberg, who returned not long ago from her long honeymoon trip to Europe, found the long-billed bird swarming on the rooftop, and the domestic hearth is doubly bright this Christmas. The bird of happy omen is hovering over the home of the Lloyds Ackermans, another young couple. Mrs. Ackerman was Miss Louise Sloss, daughter of Leon Sloss, and related to many very wealthy local families. A tragedy befell Mrs. Ackerman on the eve of her wedding, for the elaborate trousseau which had been ordered from Paris failed to arrive in time owing to some mistake in transportation. All's well that ends well, however.—The Wasp.

THE AMERICAN
PATRICIAN'S MANSION

The house at 871 Fifth avenue, New York, which the late James Henry Smith bought from the estate of William C. Whitney, together with its contents, including art treasures, which cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, is to be sold at public auction. The buyer of the house will have the privilege of purchasing whatever furnishings he may desire before the remainder is sold also at auction. This brownstone house was remodelled by Stanford White, the architect whom Harry Thaw murdered. Panels from European palaces, wrought-iron work from Florence, marbles from Roman temples, and carvings from cathedrals were all included in the decorative scheme. The house was completed in 1900, and early the following year Mr. Whitney gave an entertainment in it for his niece, Miss Helen Barney. After the death of Mr. Whitney the estate sold the house to James Henry Smith, together with a large part of its furnishings, for $500,000. Mr. Smith added many art objects to take the place of those taken away by Mr. Whitney's children. Mr. Smith died in 1907, in Japan, on his honeymoon, and the terms of his will directed that the property should be sold. The house has a frontage of 55 feet on Fifth avenue and extends back into Sixty-eighth street 200 feet. Its entrance is covered by a wrought-iron grill, which was formerly in the Doric Palace. ONE WAY OF
DOING IT

Claus Spreckels Jr. has gone into a novel reform movement in conjunction with two other millionaires. Their specialty is bad roads in San Diego county. Instead of spending their money indulging the road commissionery Spreckels

Al G. Spaulding and E. M. Scripps had themselves appointed roadway supervisors and proceeded to build highways. When the county did not have the money to roadway supervisors donated it. They have already spent $1,250,000. Spaulding is the man whose name appears on the country's baseballs and bats. Scripps made his money syndicating newspapers. The three have estates in San Diego county, and, until they went into roadmaking, could not get about comfortably in their automobiles.—The Wasp.

SOCIETY TO AID
A CHARITY

This winter has been notable for the many charity affairs fostered by society. On January 17, 18 and 19, a musical extravaganza is to be given for the benefit of the Telegraph Hill Free Dispensary. The play is "Professor Napoleon," an extravaganza of college life in which 250 young people will participate. The affair will be under the patronage of the following society women: Miss Elizabeth Ashe, Mrs. Frank B. Anderson, Mrs. Chase, O. Alexander, Mrs. William B. Bourne, Mrs. Francis J. Carlson, Mrs. Patrick K. Calhoun, Mrs. Edward L. Fyre, Mrs. J. Athearn Figner, Mrs. Joseph D. Grant, Miss Alice S. Griffith, Mrs. William Minton, Mrs. George A. Newhall, Mrs. Carter P. Pomeroy, Mrs. Conrad Hathorne, Mrs. Joseph Sloss, Mrs. Henry T. Snot, Mrs. William H. Hinkley, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. William S. Tevis, Mrs. Mountford S. Wilson, and Dr. Herbert Allen. Dr. Camillus Bush, Dr. Philip King Brown, Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, Dr. Florence Holesdale, Dr. Langley Porter, Dr. A. B. Spaulding, Dr. Harry M. Sherman, Dr. Edouard Tausig, and Cav. S. M. Rocca, Consul-General of Italy.—The Wasp.

JUST DONE TO ANNY CROCKER

The New York Evening Post, in the profundity of its misanthropic of matters and things in California, referred to Mr. William H. Crocker of San Francisco as a "conscienceless business man" who "was willing to back Henry just as long as he confined his operations to the small fry, but withdrew his support when Henry undertook to try Patrick Calhoun and announced his intention of prosecuting respectable men higher up." Mr. Crocker resented these statements in a spirited letter to the editor of the Post, explaining precisely why he withdrew his support from the so-called anti-graft movement. He went into details so far as to give a list of inquiries by which the prosecution had discredited itself and alienated the approval and support of himself and others in San Francisco. The Evening Post published this letter a week ago. Now comes Mr. Francis Henry and files a suit in New York demanding $500,000 damages from Mr. Crocker on the score of libel. This procedure is ridiculous of course. It is intended mainly to sustain the repute of the San Francisco prosecuting movement in the East, where its true character is not fully understood. Incidentally, it is intended to annoy Mr. Crocker—to "give him trouble." Mr. Crocker will have no difficulty in justifying his statements as in entire accord with the facts as they are understood here, and he will no doubt welcome the opportunity to exhibit at the East the motives and methods of the so-called graft campaign in San Francisco. It appears to be another case where Henry in his hot-headed indiscretion has played into the hands of his critics. Quite incidentally this latest move illustrates the depth of vindictive feeling entertained by Mr. Henry and his associates. Failure in the courts and before the people has thwarted and rebuked them, but it still leaves them smarting and resentful.—Argonaut.

POSSIBLY GALLAGHER
HAS REALLY GONE

It is possible that Big Jim Gallagher has really left the country. There are many reasons why he might do so. He has in hand the money which his nefarious operations yielded him, retained for the permission, not to say the cooperation, of his friends of the graft prosecution. His hide is thick, still it can hardly be supposed that San Francisco is an agreeable place for residence for one who has testified something more than a score of times that he was a bribe-taker and a trafficker in bribes. True, Gallagher is not without friends; the prosecutors have been both generous and cordial towards him. But their day is past and they have lost their rancor; they are standing hardly at arm's length for association with a man of restored character. Possibly Gallagher has gone. But—the Argonaut would be willing to bet something handsome that Gallagher whenever they want him and that they have known all Mr. Langston's appeal to the police for help in hunting up Gallagher has all the earmarks of a carefully arranged stage play—the same kind of play of a few years ago by the prosecutors under friendly understanding with Abraham Ruef. Probably the prosecution wanted to see how the public would take it.—Argonaut.

ANENT ANDY
WILSON, BOODLER

Andy Wilson, boodling supervisor, having been granted immunity for his crimes, was called as a witness, but could not be brought to say the things which the prosecutors demanded of him. Then his immunity was withdrawn; he was indicted and while under indictment was again called as a witness. Being a poor creature, criminal by instinct and habit, eager naturally to save himself from the penalties of his crimes, Wilson's "memory" revived—he testified as the prosecutors wanted him to testify. And now, just as these same prosecutors are going out of office, they have with the consent of a friendly court dismissed their own indictments. This is their method of clearing up the tag ends of the great moral movement.—Argonaut.

ABOUT THE MAYOR-ELECT

At the last annual pow-wow and food-

Mayor-elect McCarthy was introduced as the headliner of the occasion, and after deep scrutiny and close analysis he was adjudged a man of promise and assured of the best wishes and co-operation of all present. The members of the Merchants' Association have signified their intention of reposing their confidence in the Mayor-elect. This is as it should be. There has been observable in certain circles, since Mr. McCarthy's election, a disposition to regard him with distrust and to defy him to make good. Now for this attitude there is no justification that we can conceive. Early in his public career we were inclined to regard the President of the Building Trades Council as a perfect type of self-seeking labor agitator, but this estimate of him has certainly not been vindicated through the fugacious years in which he has been prominently before the public. He has been painted black by his enemies, but he has retained to an amazing degree the loyalty of his followers, and he has been sponsored from time to time by gentlemen who are believed to be among our most distinguished citizens. Indeed by reason of the confidence of these distinguished citizens in Mr. McCarthy he was enabled to fit himself by experience for the exalted office to which he has been elected. Their interest in him may have sprung from recognition of the advantages that might accrue to them from the cultivation of the friendship of a powerful labor leader, but whatever the motive that he attributed to them the fact remains that they afforded him an excellent training for the duties which he is about to undertake. In every official position he has occupied he has proved himself a man of ability, and despite the enemies he has made in his zeal for the interests in the Building Trades Council, and their persistent efforts to besmirch his character, and tempt him into disloyalty, he enjoys among his followers today the reputation of being an honest man. So why should we distrust him? He is at least entitled to as much encouragement as was given Mayor Taylor at the outset of that gentleman's official career.—Town Talk.

THE FOLLY OF CENTRALIZATION

That Senator Elihu Root has not been converted to the Roosevelt philosophy with reference to the centralization of power in the hands of the Federal Government was made evident at the banquet of the National Civic Federation in New York. On that occasion Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Company, urged that as the insurance business was by its nature interstate commerce it should come under the regulation of the Federal Government and not be subject to state courts and state control. Senator Root took occasion to argue against the proposition, and incidentally protested against the tendency toward centralization of power which received great impetus during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. "If," said Senator Root, "there were no other question but the question of whether the national government or the state government should deal with insurance it might not be so important, but you cannot confine the proposal to insurance alone." He pointed out that the purpose of our Constitution is to preserve at once the strength of a great national power and the freedom and personal independence of local self-government. Of course, as Senator Root shrewdly remarked, if we reform the Constitution as to insurance we shall gradually do it as to hundreds of other things, and eventually state lines will be wiped out, and the greatest mischiefs will result therefrom will be chief of which will be the loss of the central government will be unable to discharge the duties that will be imposed upon it. What central government could reconcile and harmonize the complicated and conflicting interests of all the states of the Union? A task no obviously impossible would be undertaken by no statesman unendowed with divine power, and as a Theodore Roosevelt comes but once in two thousand years the folly of bringing about a situation demanding his full capacity is apparent.—Town Talk.

THE FASCINATING
DIMMICK CASE

Those who take delight in what the exponents of yellow journalism call human interest stories may find much to gratify their taste in the case of Walter Dimmick, who was convicted of the theft of $30,000 from the local branch of the United States Mint in which he was employed as assistant cashier. Into a brief period of Dimmick's life have been crowded many vicissitudes of the kind out of which is fashioned realistic, emotional drama that runs at the heart-strings and chokes the susceptible with emotions. Dimmick has emerged from the gloomy walls of the penitentiary at San Quentin, where he spent six years of his life, and he is now embarked on a new career in this city. It is not unusual for convicts to proclaim their innocence and bewail the cruelty and injustice of their fate. But it is seldom that a convict who insists that he is innocent brings conviction to the minds of his associates. There is a grim sense of humor in penitentiaries, and it is invariably indulged at the expense of those self-styled unfortunates who rail at the cruel fates and the blind vindictiveness of savage justice. Behind the prison walls there is none of the charity that mitigates the miseries of sinners. There society is all of one class—all are reprobates, and the convict who affects the air of an innocent man is scoffed at, and burning brands are heaped upon his head. It is hard to dissemble successfully where men are thrown in such close contact as in San Quentin, where every man is constantly under the eye of his fellows, where his silence is more eloquent than his speech and even his dreams are heard. All of which imparts significance to the fact that Walter Dimmick has left behind him in San Quentin the impression that he is guiltless of the crime for which he has suffered disgrace and imprisonment. This impression he did not create by appeals to sympathy or by denials of his guilt. He is not the man who has written a great deal about his sins, and without complaint. At first he worked in the furniture mill, and he worked hard and faithfully. He was always amiable but seldom sociable. His clerical commensurate department and there, too, his behavior was exemplary. He was never inclined to discuss his affairs, but in the course of time it became known that he had consecrated himself to one purpose, that of vindicating himself and establishing his claim upon the respect of his fellow men. While in San Quentin influential friends of Dimmick interested themselves in his behalf, and they succeeded in getting a promise of a pardon for him on condition that he should confess his guilt. This he refused to do. Strong pressure was brought to bear upon him, but in vain.—Town Talk.

RUMORS ABOUT
CHIEF COOK

The political writers of the morning papers have a brand new story every day about the approaching removal of Chief of Police Cook from the position which he has filled with such success. I sincerely hope that the new police commissioners, whoever they may turn out to be, will have the good sense to retain Chief Cook in his present position. But I do not think anybody knows just what the Mayor-elect and his political intimates intend to do in this or in any other department of the municipal government. McCarthy is keeping his own counsel with unusual closeness, a fact which is shown by the wide variety of guesses as to his appointments which the political writers are making. I doubt whether even Chief Cook has any positive information as to what is going to happen to him. Of course, he might send out some of his detectives to get the "low-down," but I don't think they would meet with any more success than the journalistic sleuths. The hushhaws of the police department are expert enough in their own field of crime investigation, but they founder hopelessly when assigned to any work outside of the routine. I have in mind the occasion recently when two of the upper office men were detailed to attend the performance of the frisky "Girl from Rector's" and make a report to the chief as to its moral tone. I met them on their way back to police headquarters, and a few minutes' conversation convinced me that they did not relish their role of censorship. They were much embarrassed when I asked them what they thought of the show. "It was very suggestive, very suggestive," replied one of them. "If I had a clean daughter, I wouldn't let her go to see it," opined the other.—Town Talk.

"KID" SULLIVAN AND RUBBERNECK WAGON

While I am on this subject of the police I might recommend to the attention of our peace authorities the remarkable interest which the notorious "Kid" Sullivan seems to take in the daily trips of the "rubberneck wagon," the sightseeing automobile which starts from Market street, near Fourth every day. The "Kid" seems to be fascinated by the excursions made by this big motor bus. Time and time again I have noticed his standing across the street watching it with alert attention. His attention is particularly keen when the bus is pretty well filled with sightseers, and the chauffeur is about to start. At such times the "Kid" seems to grow nervous, for he makes peculiar gestures, as though he were talking to somebody in the bus with code signs. Now I happen to know that rustic sightseers have come back to their downtown hotels after a trip in the rubberneck wagon, sadder but wiser men. The trip not only makes them acquainted with the beauties of the city but also with some of the ugly traits of human character. I suggest that the police interview the "Kid," who is a most interesting talker on certain subjects, with the purpose of plucking the heart out of this everyday mystery of Market street.—Town Talk.

THE OLD
FLOWER VENDERS

I wonder if the old flower vendors will ever return to the sidewalk in front of the Chronicle building and to the open space around Lotta's fountain. Sometimes I am inclined to think that this old attraction has gone never to return, like the cocktail route; but at other times I am not so sure. There are one or two vendors who do a modest trade in violets near the turntable right now; perhaps others will follow their example until the gorgeous colors of chrysanthemums, carnations, gladioli and other beautiful flowers will gladden our eyes as of yore. The old flower dealers who banked their baskets under the curb at Market and Kearny streets did a thriving business and I would not be surprised if some of them are now quite well-to-do. I have heard people speak of that charming feature of downtown life in the most unlikely parts of the world, the riot of exquisite blooms at reasonable prices appealed strongly to the imagination and the pocketbooks of tourists. That old scene was painted by many artists, and it vies with the similar scene in front of St. Martin's in the Fields in London in the memory of lovers of the picturesque. But the vendors took a great deal of business away from the regular florists and it is quite likely that these would market their objections if the old flower

A PROFESSOR
ON BRET HARTE

While Mr. L. M. King, secretary of the Merchants' Association, as noted in these columns last week, has only just learned that Bret Harte is dead. Professor Josiah Royce of Harvard is to the fore with a magazine article in which he demonstrates to his own satisfaction that Harte's fame has endured altogether too long. Royce is a Californian by birth and has written a great deal about this state; no doubt they regard him in the East as an authority upon our history, manners and morals. I do not know whether the East was impressed when Royce wrote: "Not one childhood memory of mine suggests any social incident or situation that in the slightest degree gave meaning or confirmation to Bret Harte's stories." In California we are not a bit impressed. We have no doubt that the statement is perfectly accurate. But in making it Royce did not impair the value of Bret Harte's literary achievement; he merely indicated the wide difference between the different points of view of one born to be a university pedant and one destined to be an immortal story writer. If Royce had seen the early life of California as Bret Harte saw it—with the eye of imaginative insight—he would probably be not a famous writer instead of a stupid Harvard professor.—Town Talk.

A LEAF OUT OF BARNUM'S BOOK

T. Barnum, the most successful of circus managers, gave utterance many years ago to the dictum that people loved to be fooled. He attributed his success in the circus business to his persistent efforts in catering to this passion. Having observed for some years the methods and practices of our thrifty purists and their shrewd managers I have come to the conclusion that they have found it profitable to adhere strictly to the principle by which the candid Barnum was guided; and the conviction has been strengthened by the character of the preparations that are being made for the Johnson-Jeffries fight. The successful bidder has agreed to give both purists a large percentage of the profits to accrue from exhibitions of the moving pictures of the contest. In the circumstances it would be highly absurd to expect the fighters to fight it earnestly from the very start. It will be to their interest to give a performance which will look good in the moving pictures. To that end they will do as fighters have done before—they will spar gracefully for several rounds; they will insure the success of the moving pictures before either of them attempts to knock the other out; and in all the circumstances of the affair it may well be doubted whether the fight will be on the square at any stage of the proceedings. But to the credit of the managers and the fighters, be it said, they have practiced very little, if any, deception on the dear people. They have at least revealed enough to make it clear that it will be to the interest of the fighters to keep the moving pictures in mind. Nevertheless Barnum's dictum will be verified.—Town Talk.

HENEY'S
LIBEL SUIT

If the enemies of the late J. H. Heney credited him with smugness they would rejoice at the pregnant prospect which his suit for libel against Mr. William H. Crocker. But Heney is probably not one among them so absurdly supplied with credulity as to believe that the protracted trial of the suit intends to prosecute that suit to a finish. Conscious though they are of the protracted and prolix strain which Mr. Heney's nervous system has endured in consequence of his extravagant efforts to gratify the morbid whims of his masters, they are hardly prepared to believe that he has entirely exhausted his fund of discretion. Libel suits have something of the character of the boomerang, and as little as Mr. Heney knows of the law he is not invariable of the hazard that is incurred by those who prove themselves less timid than angels by rushing into court to obtain from the blind goddess a certificate of character. That Mr. Heney is a man of discretion I know because of the utter failure of his own efforts to induce him to take up for discussion the subject of the notorious receipt which he gave to the Contra Costa Water Company. It was discretion of the highest order that kept Mr. J. Heney as dumb as an oyster about the time that he was taunted about his receipt. So now it is too severe a tax on the utility of his enemies to ask them to believe that Mr. Heney will actually go into court and demand Mr. Crocker not only to prevent a panoramic view of the doings of the graft prosecution but also to challenge his estimate of the value of his reputation. Mr. Heney demands judgment for a quarter of a million dollars, thus implying that he believes he has a reputation of exceptional purity. And thus it would appear that Mr. Crocker is to be afforded the delightful opportunity of undeceiving him in the same manner as was Martin Kelly undeceived by William H. Hearst. Kelly was more modest than Heney. He believed that his reputation was worth not more than $50,000 but the jury that tried his libel suit found that he was worth in his pocketbook to the extent of $49,999. Now Mr. Heney appears to have invited a similar disillusionment, but of course this is a case in which appearance may prove decidedly deceptive. A man with so much confidence in himself as he has always exhibited in the trial of a libel suit is not likely to be so conscious of his rectitude and the prosecution of it is a work of supererogation. But in the interest of the community it would be well for Mr. Crocker, as a public spirited citizen, to seize the opportunity afforded and apply at once for commissions to take testimony. Let us have, if possible, a little cross-examination of our civic patriots and of those unparalleled representatives of the American Judiciary—Lawyer and Duane. Make haste, Mr. Crocker, like a good fellow, before anybody has a chance to run out on you.—Town Talk.

TO SAVE THE SEALS
FROM EXTINCTION

The United States government is just now engaged in the wise and commendable task of saving the fur seals of the Pacific Ocean from extermination. That is it high time to take some action of the kind may be inferred from the fact that when this country bought Alaska from Russia there were about four million seals on the Pribiloff Islands while now there are less than two hundred thousand and this number is rapidly diminishing. The Japanese poachers are blamed for the wholesale slaughter of the seals. There is an arbitration ruling which prohibits a sixty mile zone about the Pribiloff Islands within which American and British hunters may not venture but the Japanese pelagic sealers are not hindered by the treaty and they are actually immune from interference within the zone of so-called immunity. Some time ago a board of experts was appointed to deal with the question and it contemplates an international conference for the purpose of formulating international game laws which will preserve not only the seals but all the other mammals of the sea, including whales, walrus, sea lions, and sea elephants. David Starr Jordan is a member of the committee.

KREISLER WILL BE HEARD HERE

Wonderful Violinist Will Give Concert at Ye Liberty
Theater

Fritz Kreisler, the greatest of living violinists and who an eminent eastern critic has rightly called "the master-singer of the violin," will play at Ye Liberty Theater next Friday afternoon, December 12, at 3:15, presenting one of the greatest programs of violin music ever offered in this city. His program, which is a tour de force, is touring with the artist as his accompanist.

It is not an easy task to describe the playing of Kreisler. The musical difficulties do not exist for him and he is a thorough musician both practically and theoretically. He plays with just fingers and arms but utilizes his brain and heart as well and he makes his violin do all but talk. He makes it certainly sing into the very hearts of his auditors. Works that, when played by him, seem full of interest and life when played by Kreisler, and some of his greatest successes have been made with compositions that other have long ago laid aside, saving them were not up to date. Whether it is a Bach composition or one of the very modern Debussy, Dvorak or Reger works, Kreisler makes everything seem to live and breathe and makes it worth his own personal personality and yet he deeply respects it and observes the great traditions of the music. According to him, something beautiful individual in everything that Kreisler does and therefore he is not merely a gifted or talented but truly a genius.

Here is the remarkable program he will play for us next Friday afternoon at 3:15. It is a new role, that of conductor.

- (a) Suite D minor, Op. 10, No. 3, Bach

Arrested for Theft On Girl's Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Police Officer Oppenheim and Officer Dwyer took into custody today John Sestavits, a laborer, who is accused by Miss Mildred McCallin, residing at the Carlton House, 246 Fourth street, of robbing her.

On December 5, it is alleged, the man entered Miss McCallin's apartment, struck her across the face, and grabbing her purse, containing $4.10, made his escape.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY THE MYSTIC SHRINE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—At a highly attended meeting of the temple of the Mystic Shrine at Golden Gate Center, which was held last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

MAKE XMAS DATES NOW.

Don't delay in making a table for Xmas dinners for New Year's eve and your best friends and the finest orchestral music ever heard. Special dinner with wine, $1.50. Saddle Rock Cafe, Thirteenth street, near Broadway.

MOPE DANVILLE PROOF.

Joseph Strickland, 422 South street, Danville, Ill., writes: "For over twenty years I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble. During the whole time I tried every kind of medicine and I tried several different kidney pills. Several weeks ago I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Pills, and am feeling better every day and will be able to tell you ever was sold by Webster's Drug Store, corner North and Washington streets."

DON'T BE HOPELESS

about yourself when you're crippled with rheumatism. A stiff debate of course you've tried lots of things and they failed. Try Foley's Kidney Pills. It will drive away all aches, pains and stiffness and leave you as well as ever was sold by Webster's Drug Store, corner North and Washington streets."

A new fall coating right now will add ten per cent to the value of your house, protect it against the winter weather and make you appear prosperous.

FIND TRACE OF ANDREE'S BALLOON

Indians Have Ropes Taken
From the Airship of Swedish
Explorer

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Dec. 11.—Bishop Pascal, who has charge of the diocese of Prince Albert, which embraces the sub-Arctic country to the north of that city, brings back with him a story of the finding of traces of the balloon in which S. A. Andree, the Swedish explorer, attempted to drift across the north pole.

One of his missionaries reported to him that while working among the Eskimoes of the Arctic region he met a tribe which had some of the plunder of the party with them. These natives had in their possession a quantity of rope of the quality which they could not get in barter from ships which enter the Arctic sea. When questioned the Eskimoes told that many years before they had come across two white men who came down out of the sky in the "white house." These men had afterward starved to death and the natives of which they converted to their use. Bishop Pascal instructed the missionary to return and get further details.

The Hudson bay factor has the same story in a somewhat different form. His story is confirmed from the London office of the company, where it was sent in official dispatches. According to the factor, an Indian arrived at his post on Upper Churchill in 1900 from an extended trapping and trading trip along the borders of the Arctic in Northern Canada.

GLEASON ISSUES CHARGED STATEMENT ON ARRIVAL

PROMOTER ANNOUNCES THAT COAST WILL GET BIG FIGHT

Gleason Strong for Promoting the Contest in San Francisco or Ocean View---Gunboat Smith and Walter Schulken Open End in Betting

BY EDDIE SMITH.

"HAPPY" Jack Gleason came into San Francisco last night minus the smile that won't come off. Jack was angry; real angry, in fact, at the foolish statements his partner, "Tex" Rickard, has been giving out and the manner in which the press of the country have accepted the match. Jack did not overload us with new and interesting information regarding the prospects of our getting the contest, nor did he give us all the truth about the opening of the bids. Jack did make a business-like statement, however, in which he told us much as any good business man would tell of his future plans.

Rickard meanwhile proceeds to make fool statements in the East that arouse the passions of the local fans and cause them to look upon the workings of the promoters with suspicion. Rickard's latest is to say that Jimmy Coffroth has been boasting that he will handle the fight and that unless he does he will keep the Rickard combination out of San Francisco. Of course Coffroth is on the ocean and can not defend himself, but in fairness we must say that Coffroth has never sent any such word to California and we believe he is too smart to try and stop Rickard and Gleason, for he would find the job one too much for him.

GLEASON NO FOOL.

Gleason is no fool. If you do not believe this just read over the charged statement he gave out last night and you will read in big capital letters between the lines that he is a man of capabilities and one who will not be given to the making of such statements that will not be taken in the East. Jack did not land until after midnight last evening and for that reason he had little time in which to tell of his intentions regarding the location and other details. We were in the office of the promoter on the phone this morning, however, and after he had informed us that he would immediately back down to business in the promotion of the big event, he handed out this statement, which, like those of last night, is well guarded. "It is our intention to stage the contest at Ocean View if the conditions will warrant it. The only thing that will keep us from starting the contest there will be a permit from the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, allowing us to stage the fight at the beach grounds. If we cannot get the permit, of course we want to hold the contest here if possible. Regarding the statements made by Mr. Rickard about the staging of the contest at Salt Lake I will state that Mr. Rickard has only half the way in the promotion of the big event in regards to the location of the contest as well as other matters. We are half interest partners in this matter and he has nothing more to say than that he will do his best to get the contest here."

RICKARD MISQUOTED.

"I can hardly help but believe that Mr. Rickard is being misquoted by the newspaper men of the East, for while I was with him he appeared very conservative in his remarks and might, if anything, be criticized for not talking enough. The statement that Rickard says that Eddie Grady will referee is a most foolish one, for Rickard has no more to say to who will referee the fight than I have and I feel that I have little or nothing to say. The fighters will agree on the third man in the ring themselves and if they do not, then it is up to Rickard and myself to select the man and who it will be no one knows at this time, not even myself or Rickard. I wish to add before going any further that I have been badly misquoted by the press in stating that I have crossed Coffroth. I have not crossed Coffroth. I have only agreed to be here long before the day of the fight and he will not doubt inform you the same. I entered into a deal with him, but when Rickard came to the road I wanted me to tie up with him and I did so. There was no double crossing in the securing of the big match—we simply outbid the other fellows and Coffroth knows that to be the fact, and that Gleason will get busy on the location of the proposed contest in the near future and in the mean time Rickard will be Salt Lake out to see if that city will bid any money for the fight."

OAKLAND WHEELMEN SHOW.

The betting opened on the Gleason-Smith-Walter Schulken contest yesterday and several wagers were made by the fans who long to see the fight. The odds on the man of the choice, one of the popular things regarding the contest is that the men sold at even money in San Francisco and that Smith was a slight favorite at even money on the side of the bet. Smith has shown so BILLY GRUPP and the rejuvenated TONY EARL. Both men will appear in the contests to be staged by Oakland Wheelmen Tuesday night.

Joe Gregg and Sullivan Coast League to Play at Box Twenty-Round Draw

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 11.—The Indian Joe Gregg-Pete Sullivan bout last night was declared a draw after twenty rounds of fighting in which Gregg fought so roughly that Referee Burke was compelled to caution him many times.

Sullivan fought his usual clean contest. The preliminary between Hooper Kid of South San Francisco and Norman Stone of Los Angeles, Stone won on decision.

Memphis Club Bars Attell: MEMPHIS, Dec. 11.—Abel Attell has received a setback by the announcement from the Memphis Club officials that he will be barred in future local bouts.

Draw at Tacoma: TACOMA, Dec. 11.—Pete McVeigh of Seattle fought Lou Long to a seven round draw last night. Lou Croft of Tacoma knocked out Ben Knutson of Tacoma in the first round.

Jack Johnson Sure Fight Will Last Twelve Rounds. NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—That he expects to stick with James J. Jeffries for at least twelve rounds in the battle for the championship of the world July 4, Jack Johnson has made known to his friends.

Twenty California Men To Make Trip to Canada. Johns, Graff, Hardy, Haffey and Carpenter, five of the best men in California squad which played in the recent intercollegiate rugby game, will go to Vancouver next Saturday to play the Canadians on Christmas, all of them expressing a desire to spend Yuletide at home.

To Form Baseball Nine From Ex-College Stars. Several Stanford students, with C. E. Sampson at the head, are starting a movement to have a baseball team composed of former college stars from California, Stanford, St. Mary's and Santa Clara college to play during the winter and spring.

Vallejo Telegraphs Seek Football Games. The Telegraphs football team of Vallejo would like to get a game with a local team. The Telegraphs have been organized for some time, but have played but few games, having found it hard to get matches with a team of their weight. They feel they are the equal of any 150-pound team in the city and are anxious to get a game with Leon Coleman, 212 George street, Vallejo.

Clarke May Quit Baseball. CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Laurie Clarke possibly will have to look for another manager for his world's champion Pittsburgh Pirates next year. Earl Clark, who led the club so successfully last season, made the statement here yesterday that he probably would not be seen in a baseball uniform again and that his farming interests were of sufficient size to keep him busy for the rest of his life.

Four Games Tomorrow. In the baseball line there will be four games tomorrow, two at St. Mary's college and two in the Berkeley mid-winter league. All will be in the afternoon.

MONEY TO LOAN

LOWEST RATES ON LOANS FROM $10 TO $200

As a rule people who borrow money want it right away, not tomorrow, not next week, but today. We have never failed to handle a transaction as promptly as the borrower desired. We have no branches, but we have a large staff of clerks and a large amount of money. You pay only for the time you keep the money. Call or phone and we will attend to your wants immediately.

HOUSEHOLD LOAN CO.

ROOMS 618 AND 619, FIFTH FLOOR, FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLDG. Broadway, San Pablo and 34th. Phone 4-101 or Oakland 5897.

SALARY AND FURNITURE LOANS

We make loans from $10 and up to men and women who are honest and work steady and faithfully. That is all the security we require for a reasonable amount. If you are behind with some of your bills, we can return them to you on your salary. Our charges are reasonable and you can return the money to us in small payments on your salary. We also loan to those owning pianos and other furniture. No furniture is taken. No unnecessary publicity or red tape. Courteous treatment.
